In re: Nomination of Megh Toth for induction in the 2022 class as a "Contemporary" member

I hope to share with you all the, the overwhelming amount of positive and significant influence Megh imparted on the corps while a member and administrator. Megh was a member of the brass section (baritone) from 1996-2000 and then continued to serve the corps in various roles with The Cadets, YEA, and USSBA from 2001-2007.

As a member, Megh was a model Cadet - always prepared, hard working, and service oriented. During her last two years as a member, Megh seamlessly transitioned into roles of leadership as a Section Leader and then Horn Sergeant. In these positions, Megh further solidified her impact as a powerful example of servant leadership. Despite the added stresses of being tasked with leading her section as well as the entire brass section, Megh continually thought of others first and gracefully guided those she led with kindness, love, and empathy as well as a unwavering "get it done" attitude. I still believe to this day Megh may not be aware of the significant impact she had on The Cadets while serving in these roles and her induction into The Cadets Hall of Fame would be a long overdue first step at reminder her of her significance to the corps.

Following her time as a member, Megh immediately joined the admin staff for the corps. Her prior experience as a highly organized and caring leader made this transition appear to be effortless. Megh's strength in this role was the ability to take an insurmountable about of responsibility in stride while ALWAYS putting the members first. She had the ability to understand the constant and ever-changing onslaught of logistical concerns that came with the job without losing her composure or compassion. I can remember countless times where Megh was more aware of a member's need for help than the member was and provided what was required. As many who read this know, the roles Megh took on as an administrator are some of the most difficult in our activity. Time and time again, we have seen qualified people unable to assume these duties with efficiency and grace. She was truly special in these roles and again should be honored for all that she offered the corps during her tenure as an administrator.

Sincerely,

Brad Toth
